GIRL ESCAPES FROM HOUSE OF REFUGE

Mamie Menard, an inmate of the Hospital Ward, Evades Nurse and Disappears.

MAN MAY HAVE AIDED HER.

Unidentified Stranger Seen Loitering Around the Institution Left About the Time She Got Out.

Mamie Menard, 15 years old, escaped from the House of Refuge Sunday afternoon, and all efforts to find her have thus far been unavailing.

Whether an unidentified man, who loitered around the institution, near the entrance on the north side of the grounds all afternoon, and disappeared about the time the girl got out, assisted her or had anything to do with her escape is a question the police will endeavor to answer.

Just how the girl managed to evade the guards and get out of the building has not been determined. Assistant Superintendent Waller King said yesterday that he had not finished his investigation. Superintendent Richardson is at Excelsior Springs for his health.

Mamie escaped from the hospital ward, where she had been confined for several weeks. She was ill and an effort on her part to get away was not expected. While a nurse had left the room for a minute Sunday, Mamie took advantage of the opportunity and got away. No one who saw her leave the grounds has been found, so it is said.

She may have hidden herself in the institution until night and then scaled the walls. It is not regarded as improbable that she was met on the outside by some person who had a vehicle in which to take her away.

The girl was sent to the House of Refuge early in August. With Lillie Aubushon and Dollie Fitzgerald, she was arrested on August 5, charged with breaking into the house of James Harris, at No. 817A North Compton avenue. It was charged that $45 was taken.

ACCUSED FORMER EMPLOYER. Mamie had been employed at the Harris home. After her arrest she said that she had left a hat in the house and had entered the kitchen door in Harris's absence to get the hat. The case, so far as Lillie Aubushon and Dollie Fitzgerald were concerned, was taken to the Grand Jury, but an ignored bill was returned and they were released.

Mamie made counter charges against Harris, but they were thrown out of court. Judge Moore of the Court of Criminal Correction disallowed himself and Justice O'Halloran tried the case. The juvenile court took charge of the girl and she was sent to the House of Refuge.

Chief Kiehl said yesterday afternoon that so far as he knew no report of her escape had been received at the Four Courts. Assistant Superintendent King, however, declared that he notified the police of the girl's disappearance.

Mamie, it is said, is good looking. Her parents live on Wash street, but she had not made her home with them for some time before her arrest. They say they have not heard of her since she got away and did not know she had escaped until a House of Refuge attendant visited the place to search for her.

The police will endeavor to ascertain who her male companions were before her arrest and in that way expect to find her before long if she is still in St. Louis.

SEEKING ADVICE
ABOUT $40,000

Board of Lady Managers Writes to Secretary of Treasury Shaw Regarding Remainder of Appropriation.

A communication from the Board of Lady Managers will be directed to Leslie M. Shaw, Secretary of the Treasury, within the next few days, asking his advice in the disposition of the remaining fund from the $100,000 appropriation which Congress voted the board last spring.

The suggestion that such a communication should be sent to the Secretary of the Treasury was the text of a resolution adopted by the board at its meeting Monday morning.

Many suggestions have been offered by the different members of the board for the final disposition of the fund, which, it is estimated, will be about $40,000.

Some of the members think that the money should be turned over to the United States Treasury, while others contend that it should be diverted to the Exposition Company, inasmuch as the $100,000 appropriation was included in the debt paid to the United States Treasury by the Exposition Company.

Mrs. Helen Boice-Hunnicke, a member of the Board of Lady Managers, stated last evening that the letter to the Secretary of the Treasury would be forwarded within the next few days.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—It was announced this evening that Miss Alice Roosevelt, daughter of President Roosevelt, and Mrs. Douglas Robinson of New York, the President's sister, will be members of President Roosevelt's party in the trip to St. Louis.

The presence of these ladies will add much to the pleasure of the party, and the popular interest in the entire trip.

Miss Alice Roosevelt spends very little time in Washington, her wide circle of friends keeping her constantly on the go. She looks forward eagerly to the visit to the World's Fair.

TALL FENCE DAMAGES THE BIG AIRSHIP

FRANCOIS AIRSHIP RISING AFTER COLLIDING WITH THE FENCE. The framework of the forward part of the car was badly bent and broken. While the machine was in contact with the fence the injury was hardly noticeable, but when the big balloon lifted again the extent of the damage became at once apparent.

FRANCOIS AIRSHIP
COMES TO GRIEF

Great Vessel Wrecked on Fence of Concourse After Two Minutes' Flight.

GAS ESCAPES FROM BALLOON.

French Aeronaut Says He'll Repair Damage and Make Another Flight—Crowd Sees Accident.

After a flight of just two minutes in the air yesterday afternoon, the Francois airship came to earth badly wrecked as the result of a collision with the top of the north fence of the Aeronautic Concourse. The second development in a chapter of accidents came as the airship was being lead into the Aerodrome. The top of the balloon was badly torn, allowing the gas to escape until the bag was entirely deflated.

The accident which occurred to the framework was so serious that it is thought it will take several days to repair it, and it will be several days more until the balloon is again inflated. An immense crowd, greater than that of the day before, had gathered to see the second trial flight of the great French airship. It was led out of the balloon barn about 4 o'clock, but was not sent up until 4:05 o'clock. The delay was occasioned by the necessary adjustment of the propellers and ballast.

When the ship finally came to cast off the ship rose steadily and easily to a height of about sixty feet, its bow turned to the west. At this height it made an easy turn to the northeast and sailed that direction for some distance, again turning to the northwest.

It was not a free flight, much to the disappointment of the crowd, and this very fact resulted in its coming to grief so quickly.

As it approached the north fence from the southeast it dropped slightly, and seeing that there was danger of the frame of the ship colliding with the lattice top of the high fence, Engineer Henry Schneider seized his megaphone and shouted loudly to those holding the rope to let go. His orders were in French, and those holding the rope did not understand him, and the more frantically the frightened engineer shouted to let go the tighter they pulled on the rope.

They succeeded in pulling the ship down until the frame ground against the top of the fence. There was a crackling sound and the vast crowd saw with dismay that the forward part of the frame work was in kindling wood. It was down on the fence before Francois and Schneider, who were on the platform, had time to spill ballast to enable the ship to rise. When they finally dropped ballast the ship rose sufficiently to clear the fence, but again seemed to drop rapidly. Just in time Schneider threw the lever that stopped the motor and the framework hit the ground with a thump. Francois and the engineer sprang out and the frame was secured by hundreds of hands, the crowd having broken the ropes and surged on the field, thinking the aeronauts were injured.

While the ship was being led into the barn, after the collision, a bolt in the door of the barn caught the top of the balloon and ripped a long rent in it. Instantly the gas began to escape, and several sparrows dropped to the ground, asphyxiated in their next breath.

It was found that the whole forward part of the frame was badly wrecked and the top star twisted. Mr. Francois said that it would take about three days to repair the damages and that he would again attempt a flight.

PRESIDENT EXPOSED TO SMALLPOX?

Comes in Contact With Official Whose Office Companion Has Disease.

DEPARTMENT IS FUMIGATED.

Chief Executive Played Tennis Yesterday With Division Chief Whose Clerk Is Now in Pesthouse.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—President Roosevelt has been indirectly exposed to smallpox.

The disease broke out in the Bureau of Corporations, of which James A. Garfield is the head.

Burr J. Ramage, attorney in the bureau, was taken to the pesthouse yesterday with a marked case of smallpox.

During the last week he had been in constant communication with Mr. Garfield, and during that time Mr. Garfield three times has been with the President.

Mr. Ramage, for a week, complained of feeling ill.

Yesterday he summoned a physician, who pronounced the trouble a bad case of smallpox. Mr. Ramage was taken at once to the pesthouse. To-day another clerk in the bureau, who boards at the same place with Mr. Ramage, was quarantined under suspicion. He also was constantly with Mr. Garfield.

The Washington Board of Health took up the case to-night and fumigated the Bureau of Corporations. Mr. Garfield played tennis with President Roosevelt this afternoon, not having been informed that there was smallpox in his bureau.

FILIPINOS GUESTS OF COLLEGE GIRLS

Members of Constabulary Entertained at the Forest Park University.

About fifty officers and enlisted men of the Philippine Constabulary were the guests of Mrs. Anna Sneed Cairns at a concert and reception at Forest Park University last evening.

There were a large number of invited guests, including Miss Helen Gould, Doctor and Mrs. Ingham, Mrs. Tucker, Mrs. Helen Gould's cousin, M. Beppo, Mr. Harold of the Japanese Commission, Mr. Isidoro of the Formosa Commission, Yamagata, also of the Formosa Commission, the Reverend A. B. De Roos, the missionary of the reservation; Doctor Neiderlein, and Senor Guerrero of the Philippine Board.

The guests were received by Mrs. Cairns in the drawing room, and when they had assembled in the gymnasium, the hostess made an address, in which she expressed pleasure at having so many of the "American brothers from across the sea," as her guests for the evening.

The young ladies taking part in the concert were Miss Selma Brill, Miss Gertrude Warnack, Miss Vera Condit, Miss Vera Ford, Miss Mary Willett, Miss Alice Armby, Miss Lillian Driver, Miss Helen King and Miss Edith Taylor. The singing of Miss Ford and Miss Driver were features of the concert, while the recitation of Miss Willett was pleasing.

Miss Gould departed after having all the officers and men presented to her, while the guests of the evening spent an hour chatting with the young ladies.

THREATS OF DEATH
QUELL THE MUTINY
AT PORT ARTHUR.

Several Russian Soldiers Said to Have Been Killed to Compel Troops to Remain at Posts.

REPORT STOESEL WOUNDED.

Commander at Fortress Refuses to Relinquish Control and Issues Orders Against a Surrender.

ENGLAND BEGINS INQUIRY.

Russian Torpedo Boat Destroyer Is Chased Into Chefoo Harbor—Japanese Driven From Endowinulu.

Headquarters of the Third Japanese Army before Port Arthur, Nov. 15, via Fusan. It is reported that a wound received by General Stoessel has necessitated his confinement in a hospital; that he refused to relinquish the command of the garrison, and that he has issued orders to the troops to die at their posts rather than surrender.

It is said, further, that many of the troops have been damped by continuous work, the lack of supplies and the hopelessness of their ability to make any successful defense of the fortress.

It is said, further, that many of the Russian soldiers are ready to surrender, but that they are kept at their posts by officers, who threaten them with revolvers, and that several soldiers who were suspected of desertion have been shot as a warning to other would-be deserters.

The Japanese now believe that the garrison has almost reached the limit of human endurance.

JAP DESTROYER CHASES RUSSIAN VESSEL INTO PORT.

Chefoo, Nov. 16, 7:15 a. m.—A Russian torpedo-boat destroyer has just entered the harbor. She has not been communicated with yet, owing to the roughness of the sea. It is reported that a Japanese torpedo-boat destroyer has been seen outside watching the movements of the Russian vessel.

DRIVE JAPANESE OUT OF VILLAGE.

Chanshanoutun, Manchuria, General Headquarters, Nov. 15.—A Japanese advance is daily expected. Large masses of their troops are moving eastward, and the Russians are expecting them to strike at their left flank.

An attack on the fortified village of Endowinulu, not far from Sincinpu (two miles west of the Shakkai Railroad station), was carried out brilliantly on the night of November 10 by a bayonet charge of the North Sea incident opened to-day. The village had been captured the same morning by the Japanese. Subsequently the Russians abandoned the place.

ENGLAND BEGINS OFFICIAL INQUIRY.

Hull, England, Nov. 15.—The inquiry which Great Britain conducted on her own behalf into the North Sea incident opened to-day. Vice Admiral Bridge and Butler Aspinall, an Admiralty Court lawyer, who were appointed to conduct the inquiry, and whose report will form the basis of the British case before the International Commission at Paris, sat at a large table surrounded by maps showing the Dogger Bank and the North Sea. In front was an array of counsel and Government officials.

Doctor Herbert Woodhouse represents Russia.

The correspondent of the Associated Press learned at the outset that the Board of Trade solicitors who have been preparing the case have found no evidence to suggest the presence of torpedo boats among the fishing fleet. The inquiry will, therefore, merely be an amplification of the evidence at the inquest and it will be adjourned to London in the course of a few days, the proceedings here being confined to a narrative of the shooting.

FAIR WEATHER CONTINUES.

Serious Storm Developing on Pacific Coast Promises Rain.

The storm along the Atlantic Coast has passed beyond the field of observation and the low-pressure area has moved up into the Dominion of Canada. On the other hand, a storm of decided character has appeared on the North Pacific Coast and has given rain in Idaho, Washington, Oregon and North and Central California.

The temperature has risen in the Mississippi valley, the lake region, the Southwest and the States west of the Rockies. The weather prediction for St. Louis is: Fair with rising temperature and fresh southerly winds.

TWO WOMEN ARE CARRIED FROM A BURNING BUILDING

Police Rescue Mrs. Fannie Williams From Roof of Blazing House—Bartender Takes Girl From Smoke-Filled Room—Man Who Turned In Alarm Falls Down Stairs and Sustains Fracture of Shoulder.

PATROLMEN SUSPECT THAT HOUSE WAS SET AFIRE.

Awakened by flames in her house at No. 323 Olive street this morning shortly after midnight, Mrs. Fannie Williams climbed from the second-story window to the roof of the building adjoining, from which she was rescued by Sergeant Nolte and Patrolmen Maguire and Bowdoin.

While the policemen were carrying Mrs. Williams down the ladder to safety, Lee Burt, a bartender at Grand avenue and Olive street, was rescuing Mary McNamara, a roomer, who had climbed to the window sill and would have jumped to the street had not the crowd warned her to wait.

Mrs. Williams likewise was about to leap from the roof, when the policemen dashed up the stairway and then climbed to her assistance on the fire escape.

Thomas E. Gibbons of No. 267 Olive street discovered the fire, and, instead of turning in an alarm, ran into the house to arouse the occupants.

In hurrying back to the street he tripped and fell on the stairway, rolling to the bottom. He sustained a fracture of the left shoulder.

His injury was dressed by a nearby physician.

Mrs. Williams and Mary McNamara were in their night clothing when rescued. They were taken to a rooming-house across the street.

Mrs. Williams had packed all of her household goods preparatory to moving to-day.

The origin of the fire is not known, but before the firemen arrived the flames had gained much headway.

The novelty store of Burke & Kerr is located under the rooming-house, and their stock was damaged by water.

The flames were quickly extinguished by the firemen and the damage to the building is said to be trifling. Mrs. Williams's furniture was badly scorched.

The fire caused considerable smoke. The streets in the district in which it occurred are always filled at this time of night, and the fire soon attracted a large crowd, which cheered the rescues of the two women by the policemen and Burt.

Guests in the Hotel Garlin, half a block east, were awakened by the clanging of the fire-engine gongs, but there was little excitement.

The neighborhood is crowded with rooming-houses. A lively stable is not far away, and it was feared that if the flames should communicate to the hay in the loft of the barn the entire block might be consumed by the flames.

The police suspect that the fire was of incendiary origin. Patrolman Tewell, who aided in the rescue, stated that an arrest might be made.

Mrs. Williams was severely bruised. She told the police that her husband had been away two weeks and that she had intended to give up the house to-day.

The police, after the flames were extinguished, estimated the damage to the building at $1,500. It is insured.

FAIR WIPES OUT
GOVERNMENT LOAN

Makes the Final Payment of $191,850.81 on $4,600,000 Debt.

FAIR'S PAYMENTS TO GOVERNMENT.

March 1.....50,000.00
April 1.....50,000.00
May 1.....50,000.00
Total.....$4,600,000.00

With the payment of $191,850.81 yesterday, the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Company wiped out the $4,600,000 loan made to it last spring by the United States Government.

The eleven payments in which it was stipulated that the loan should be repaid were not only met on the dates when due, but in several instances were made before due, and only in the dull months of midsummer was the slightest fear entertained regarding the ability of the Fair to meet this obligation.

In order to remove this possibility, the directors of the Fair, its officials and prominent business men of St. Louis met and agreed to sign a joint note for $1,000,000.

Further security in the form of the proceeds from the sale of the wreckage, the receipts of the Intramural Railroad and various concessions was offered. Almost without an exception the financial institutions of St. Louis agreed to accept a share of the $1,000,000 note, each in proportion to its capital. In this way the Fair officials were prepared at any time for a shortage of funds, but it was not found necessary to borrow the $1,000,000, and several months ago President Francis announced that the Fair would meet all of its obligations without borrowing any more money.

An official of the Fair stated yesterday that, while the Fair has considerable money on hand, not only the restoration of Forest Park but expenses incidental to its closing would make heavy inroads into its balance.

He further said that the plan of devoting all of its net profits to the restoration of Forest Park had been considered, with the idea of making it one of the finest parks in the world, but that the present plan is for the Fair to fill its obligations to the utmost detail and to divide the residue, if there is any, among the subscribers to its stock.

The stock of the Fair amounts to $15,000,000, divided as follows: Public subscription, $5,000,000; city of St. Louis, $5,000,000; United States Government, $5,000,000. All are entitled to an equal share.

PAT CROWE VISITS
ST. LOUIS FRIEND

Notorious Kidnapor Borrows Money of Charles Brennan to Go to Chicago.

TELLS "HARD-LUCK" STORY.

Expresses Belief That He Can "Square" Cudahy Case Against Him in Omaha—To Visit His Brother.

It became known yesterday that Pat Crowe, who kidnaped the millionaire Cudahy's child in Omaha two years ago, was in St. Louis last week and remained in the city long enough to go to the home of Charles Brennan, No. 1617 North Twenty-third street, to borrow money to take him to Chicago.

Crowe visited the Brennan home about 7:30 in the evening and his ring was answered by Charles Brennan, Judge B. A. Noonan, D. W. Connole of Anthon, Ia., and several members of the family were in the house at the time, but were not aware of the visit until the following day.

Brennan said that Crowe was in "hard luck" and wanted enough money to go to Chicago to see his brother Steve, who is conducting a hotel on Madison avenue, Pat said that he intended to reform, and was in a cheerful mood. He expressed a belief that he could clear up the charges against him at Omaha, because the Cudahy family were the only ones who still desired to prosecute him. He was not worrying, he said, and hoped to be able to fix the matter up with the Cudahys.

The Brennan and Crowe families lived near each other in Scott County twenty years ago, and the boys went to school together. Until the diamond robbery, in which Crowe figured prominently, he had led a straight and upright life. He was employed in Omaha as a butcher, earning good wages, and was married to a respectable woman.

Brennan has two brothers, both of them employed in St. Louis, and he, until a month ago, traveled for Armour & Co. Brennan is reputed to be a reliable man, and his statement was vouched for by members of the family. Charles Brennan, so far as is known, is the only man who saw Pat Crowe while in St. Louis and talked to him.

Connole Makes Statement.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 15.—A special to the World-Herald from St. Louis City says: "A comfortable chat with Pat Crowe, the most hunted man in America, was the new experience in St. Louis last week of Charles Brennan, a former resident of Anthon, I. T. D. W. Connole, a banker of Anthon, has just returned from St. Louis, where he stayed at the Brennan home, at No. 1617 North Twenty-third street, and was there told by Brennan of his meeting with Crowe.

"Brennan and Pat Crowe were playmates more than twenty years ago in Scott County, Iowa, where the Crowe and Brennan families were neighbors.

"Brennan came to Anthon, where he is known as a reliable man, and Crowe became a butcher in Omaha, after which he made himself famous in the Cudahy kidnaping case. Crowe called on Brennan last week and asked for a loan of money with which to go to Chicago to see his brother.

Crowe was in a cheerful mood and said he had reformed. He expressed the belief that he could square the charges against him at Omaha because the Cudahy family were the only ones still desiring to prosecute him. Connole says he has no doubt of the truth of Brennan's story, because he knows he is an entirely reliable man."

BURGLARS LOOT HOUSE
WHILE FAMILY SLEEP.

Enter Residence of Charles Wunderlich in West End and Secure Jewelry and Money.

Charles Wunderlich, president of the Wunderlich Cooperative Company, reported to the police yesterday that his home, No. 3230 Bailey avenue, had been entered by burglars early Monday morning. More than $500 in money and jewelry was stolen. Entrance was gained through an insecure kitchen door. The upper rooms were ransacked and $50 in bills was taken from Mr. Wunderlich's clothing while he slept. Among the jewelry missing are three gold watches, a gold neck chain, a brooch set with pearls and diamonds and several small pins.
